AI And Model Limitations Disclosure

Effective date: June 22, 2026

This disclosure is a first draft for review by counsel. Do not publish until approved.

Tetrahedron may use AI, rules-based models, scoring systems, market-regime classifiers, summaries, and recommendation engines.

These systems may:

- be wrong
- be stale
- miss important information
- misclassify market conditions
- overfit prior data
- fail during outages
- produce incomplete explanations
- rely on incorrect or delayed sources
- behave differently across market regimes

AI outputs are informational and operational support. They are not guarantees, instructions, or personalized financial advice.

Users remain responsible for reviewing settings, trades, exchange account state, and risk before enabling automation or live trading.
